

ABOUT US

Who are we:

Community Integration Services Society (CISS) is a non-profit organization that was founded in July 1990. CISS provides life skills services and support to adult individuals with developmental disabilities. We are primarily funded through Community Living British Columbia (CLBC). CISS provides support throughout the lower mainland, focusing in the Tri-Cities and North Vancouver.

Mission:

At Community Integration Services Society, we support people with developmental disabilities through their different life stages to take risks, develop skills, make genuine connections, and live lives in ways that are meaningful to them, their families and the community.

Vision:

True inclusion and belonging for all.

Services Offered:

CISS is governed by a volunteer Board of Directors and comprised with our Administration team, Management team, and our highly trained Life Skills Workers. The Administration Office along with Individualized Day Services, Inlet Enterprises, L.I.F.E. Services and Personalized Supports Initiative are located at Melissa Park in Port Coquitlam, and Leisure Services/Individualized Day Services is located in North Vancouver. Each of our programs are community based inclusion programs that assist its individuals through a variety of supports. Such as, life skills training, volunteer and employment services, interpersonal and social relationship development, and physical, mental and emotional well-being.

Our services evolve and adapt to the ever-changing needs of the people served and their families. Individual Service Plans (ISP) are developed with individuals and their families which address individual needs, interests, goals, and build on the strengths that each individual possess.
